SOLDIER BOYS TO WEAR BLUE ONLY

Examiner—The blue uniform wins out against both khaki and olive drab, say local army officers. It is considered more patriotic and far natter in appearance.

A general order has been prepared by the army authorities, the general effect of which will be to make the cotton clothing the uniform for field service and work in garrison only, it being relegated from other use. Hereafter, when leaving a post on pass for the day or on furlough a soldier will be required to be attired in the blue uniform, and it will be necessary for him to have that uniform in a sufficiently neat condition to pass the inspecting officer.

This order meets with the general approval of both the officers and men at the Presidio here and at other army posts throughout the country, because, as a matter of neatness and sentiment, it means the perpetuation of the "boys in blue."

SWIMMER ROUTED BY SAVAGE GULLS

Examiner—While the officers and hundreds of passengers on the liner Sonoma looked on in horror, a Japanese steerage passenger who had leaped overboard for a swim while the steamer was hove to at sea off Point Arena some days ago, was attacked by a flock of large sea gulls, known along the coast as goonies, and was almost overcome before he could be rescued by the crew of the Sonoma.

The remarkable incident happened on the afternoon of July 6, when the Sonoma, after having rammed the schooner Advent, had the sailing vessel in tow and was waiting for the arrival of the steamer Coaster, several miles off the coast. The Japanese plunged into the sea from the lower bridge of the steamer. He was a good swimmer, and the passengers were watching him when a swarm of goonies swooped down upon him.

First one and then another of the big gulls dropped near enough to strike the Japanese, who cried out in pain as the birds cut the flesh of his neck and shoulders. Throwing his arms about wildly, in an attempt to beat off his strange enemies, the swimmer made an effort to return to the side of the steamer, fifty feet distant, but at every stroke of his arm he was repeatedly struck by the fierce birds, which were making a great outcry, as though fearful of losing their prey.

When he was helped aboard he was scarcely able to climb to the rail, and blood issued from many parts of his head, neck and shoulders.

Captain Cousins and other officers of the liner believe the man would have been killed by the ravenous birds had assistance not been near.

AMERICAN QUARTER IN LONDON.

LONDON, July 24.—The World, in commenting upon the great increase in alien visitors, suggests that Aldwych be converted into American quarter.

"The annual invasion," says the World, "has outgrown the hotels and overflowed into the bathrooms of Bloomsbury. Not only would this desert site, if converted into a perfectly-appointed American quarter, prove a further inducement to Americans to leave their homes, but it would be intensely interesting to Londoners, who are almost as vague as they are curious about New York."

IF YOU SHOULD DIE TONIGHT

how would your business affairs be left? Have you made a will? If so, have you named as executors men of business experience, or have you chosen from among relatives and friends regardless of their fitness for such a trust? Business transactions should be stripped of sentiment; every prudent man should arrange to have his affairs, at his death, pass into the hands of persons competent to handle them. Anything short of this is neglect; have you neglected your wife and little ones in this respect?

This is a matter of vital interest to YOU.

The Henry Waterhouse Trust Co., Ltd., makes a specialty of estate business and you will do well to call and get suggestions from its representatives. Do it NOW. No charge is made by them for the drawing of wills, or for legal advice touching estate matters.
